The Honorable Michael R. Pompeo
Secretary of State
U.S. Department of State
2201 C Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20520

Dear Acting Director Cuccinelli and Secretary Pompeo:

We write with great alarm about the historically low number of refugees resettled in the United States in fiscal year (FY) 2020 as well as the recently released President's Report to Congress, which proposes to slash the number of refugees eligible for resettlement in the United States to 15,000 in FY 2021.¹ This intolerable action continues the Trump Administration's reversal of America's long-standing commitment to the protection of refugees. We write to request documents, analysis, and information related to the policies surrounding refugee resettlement, in particular the Administration's plans to interview those seeking resettlement in FY 2021 to inform our oversight of the issue.

President Trump's record on refugee resettlement is shameful and un-American. Last year, the President cut the annual refugee ceiling to a historic low of 18,000 and, for the first time in our nation's history, restricted resettlement to just four specific refugee groups, excluding all others.² Also, the Administration allocated a resettlement target level for each of the four permitted refugee groups and instructed U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) and the State Department to process only applications that fit within these four narrowly-scoped categories. These policies shut out tens of thousands of applicants who have been vetted and accepted to the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program (USRAP) but who do not fall under any of the four qualifying categories. Many of these applicants have waited for years for an interview with USCIS, remaining in a bureaucratic limbo to achieve refugee status.

¹ Department of State, Transmission of the President's Report to Congress on the Proposed Refugee Admissions for Fiscal Year 2021 (Sept. 30, 2020) (online at www.state.gov/transmission-of-the-presidents-report-to-congress-on-the-proposed-refugee-admissions-for-fiscal-year-2021/).

² The four categories include applicants who (1) have faced or fear religious persecution, including under Lautenberg and Specter Amendments; (2) qualify under the Refugee Crisis in Iraq Act of 2017; (3) are nationals or residents of El Salvador, Guatemala, or Honduras; or (4) are "other refugees" with certain caveats. Memorandum from President Donald J. Trump to Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, Presidential Determination on Refugee Admissions for Fiscal Year 2020 (Nov. 1, 2019) (online at www.whitehouse.gov/presidential-actions/presidential-determination-refugee-admissions-fiscal-year-2020/).

In addition, USCIS made operational changes that diminished its ability to adjudicate refugee applications worldwide. In FY 2019, USCIS abruptly closed 16 of the 23 international offices that process refugee cases.³ This decision came as a surprise even to senior USCIS officials and compounded the deleterious effects of other internal decisions to divert significant resources and staff previously assigned to refugee adjudication and processing to domestic asylum application processing within USCIS.⁴ For example, the number of USCIS officers assigned to refugee interviews fell from 110 to 35 in 2019.⁵ The Administration's rollback of refugee resettlement operations and across-the-board resource reductions minimized the number of refugees admitted to the United States to fewer than 12,000 refugees in FY 2020.⁶

We are deeply concerned about USCIS' ability to interview and process refugees for resettlement in FY 2021. Tens of thousands of religiously persecuted people, including Iranian Christians trapped inside Iran ("Iranian P2s"), may not receive sufficient levels of protection through programs statutorily required by the Lautenberg Amendment, which has been extended annually by Congress. Unaccompanied refugee minors who have fled violence or abuse and dissidents who have fled government persecution and referred to the USRAP by U.S. embassies ("embassy P1 referrals") are also in jeopardy of not receiving USCIS consideration for resettlement in the United States.

Moreover, the Administration has turned its back on Iraqis who risked their lives working for U.S. entities—including Iraqis who assisted U.S. military forces and certain family members of such employees eligible under Section 1243(a) of the Refugee Crisis in Iraq Act of 2007 ("Iraqi P2s"). While the Administration reserved 4,000 of the total 18,000 available resettlement slots for Iraqi P2s in FY 2020, it shamefully admitted just 161 individuals in this category.⁷ In FY 2018 and 2019, only 140 and 465 Iraqi P2s were resettled in the United States, respectively, compared to the 9,880 Iraqi P2s admitted in FY 2016.⁸ We understand USCIS interviews required for the resettlement of the estimated 110,000 Iraqi P2s have been slowed and significantly limited because of security conditions on the ground in Iraq and because of enhanced security vetting requirements. Only recently have COVID-19 restrictions negatively affected the interview process.⁹ Despite these hurdles, the U.S. government needs to fulfill its commitment to our Iraqi allies and immediately develop solutions to address this processing backlog while continuing to screen applicants who may pose a national security risk.

The proposed 15,000 refugee ceiling for FY 2021 is unacceptable. Even with this historically low ceiling, the number of refugees admitted in FY 2021 likely will not reach this ceiling and may fail to reach the number admitted in FY 2020 if immediate actions are not taken to bolster USCIS staff and resources and to plan for refugee interviews—particularly amidst pandemic-related and security restrictions. To inform Congress about the Trump Administration’s handling of refugee applications, we request that USCIS and the State Department jointly provide the following documents and information by November 16, 2020.

The Honorable Gerald E. Connolly

Subcommittee on Government Operations
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Chairman Connolly:

Thank you for your October 27, 2020 letter regarding proposed refugee admissions for fiscal year 2021.

As you are aware, the Executive Branch recently consulted with Members of Congress regarding a proposed increase in refugee admissions for the current fiscal year. The report proposes a revised refugee admissions ceiling of 62,500 and a return to regional allocations. U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) works with U.S. Refugee Admissions Program (USRAP) partners to process refugee cases consistent with the refugee ceiling set each year by the President in consultation with Congress. This year, like the previous fiscal year, USRAP partners are working to meet the refugee ceiling while also protecting the health and safety of all individuals involved in refugee processing, both domestically and abroad. Attached, please find responses to your questions.

Thank you again for your letter and attention on this important issue. The cosigners of your letter will receive a separate, identical response. Should you require any additional assistance, please have your staff contact the USCIS Office of Legislative Affairs at (240) 721-3801.

Respectfully,

Approximately 600 interviews, comprising approximately 1,350 applicants, were scheduled for the circuit rides that were underway in mid-March and were cancelled as a result of circuit ride curtailment.

Approximately 400 Iraqi P2 interviews, comprising approximately 900 applicants, were scheduled for the circuit rides in Jordan and Turkey that were underway in mid-March and were cancelled as a result of circuit ride curtailment.

At the time planning was suspended for Quarter 3 circuit rides, no Iraqi P2 refugee applicants had yet been scheduled for interview.

9. As a result of in-country security concerns in FY 2020:

a. The number and locations of USCIS circuit rides that were cancelled;

No circuit rides were cancelled in FY 2020 as a result of in-country security concerns. However, due to security concerns, as of the initial yearly planning, no circuit rides were planned for Iraq.

b. The number of refugee applicants who were scheduled to interview in the cancelled circuit rides;

No circuit rides were cancelled in FY 2020 as a result of in-country security concerns.

U.S Citizenship and Immigration Services' Response to Chairman Connolly's October 27, 2020 Letter

No circuit rides were cancelled in FY 2020 due to any reason besides coronavirus.

b. The reasons for these cancellations;

No circuit rides were cancelled in FY 2020 due to any reason besides coronavirus.

c. The total number of refugee applicants who were scheduled to interview in the cancelled circuit rides;

No circuit rides were cancelled in FY 2020 due to any reason besides coronavirus.

11. The dates, locations, and number of refugee applicants to be interviewed in all circuit rides planned in FY 2021 based on current and projected travel restrictions caused by the coronavirus pandemic, in-country security concerns, or any other restrictions;

It is expected that, due to the coronavirus pandemic, USCIS will not travel overseas to interview refugee applicants in Quarters 1 or 2 of FY 2021. As the coronavirus situation improves, refugee processing circuit rides may resume, dependent on the nature of movement restrictions issued by local governments and other post-by-post restrictions issued by the Department of State. USCIS is conducting certain re-interviews via video teleconference (VTEL) and is in the process of finalizing a plan with Department of State's Bureau of Population, Refugee and Migration to maximize the number of re-interviews that can be done remotely.

12. All documents relating to plans for refugee interviews in FY 2021 for:

- a. Iraqi P2s;
- b. Iranian P2s;
- c. embassy P1 referrals;
- d. unaccompanied refugee minors;
- e. any applicant populations with extreme protection concerns;

Documents relating to plans for refugee interviews in FY 2021 are deliberative at this time.

13. The number of remote interviews conducted by USCIS in FY 2020, by category of refugees;

In FY 2020, USCIS completed 39 remote re-interviews involving 88 applicants via VTEL for certain cases that required re-interview, consistent with allocation categories in the FY 2020 Presidential Determination. As this was an initial pilot, USCIS focused on cases from the Northern Triangle, largely in the same time zone as refugee officers.

All documents relating to plans to conduct remote interviews as an alternative to in-person interviews in FY 2021, including:

- a. the number of planned remote interviews in FY 2021, by category of refugees;

Documents relating to plans for refugee interviews in FY 2021 are deliberative at this time.

- b. any statutory authorities that require refugee adjudication to be conducted in-person, that prevent USCIS from expanding remote interviews, or that would be required for USCIS to do so; and

There are no statutory requirements that the refugee interviews be conducted in-person. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regulations currently provide that refugee applicants must be interviewed “in person.” See 8 CFR 207.2(a) below.

§ 207.2 Applicant processing.

(a) Interview. Each applicant 14 years or older must appear in person before an immigration officer for inquiry under oath to determine his or her eligibility for admission as a refugee.

DHS is exploring options to leverage the presence of immigration officers abroad to facilitate blended in-person /VTEL interviews with refugee officers based domestically.

14. All documents relating to projections of refugee resettlement in FY 2021, in particular Iraqi P2s.

USCIS defers to the Department of State for this response.
